About voter registration deadlines

If you are already a registered voter at your current address, you do not need to reregister for each election.

If you are 17 years of age but will be 18 prior to or on the next election day, you may register to vote, but must do so by the deadline for that election.

If you become a U.S. citizen after the voter registration deadline, you may still register to vote for the next election, as long as you do so by 4:00pm the day before the election.

Your status as a voter

If you do not return your census form, the Registrars must change your voter status to Inactive. This is usually done in June of every year. Inactive voters may still vote on election day, but be prepared to complete an affidavit and show ID or government document with address matching your voter address.

Absentee Voting

If you will be out of town on Election Day, then you may apply for an absentee ballot at any time. A family member may apply on behalf of a voter in their household. The deadline to apply for an absentee ballot is noon the day before an election.

* Emergency legislation was passed in late November 2007 to change the date of the Presidential Primary from March 4, 2008 to February 5, 2008.
